Centro RotrLink modular display systems

fast and easy modular display solutions, twist and lock connection

The Centro portable modular display range has been extremely successful as clients can assemble the robust systems themselves. Until now we have provided a locking system secured with the use of a single Allen Key. The reason for this approach was to maintain strength and provide systems that will last. For the past few years we have been working to reduce the use of tools for assembly whilst maintaining the strength and durability of the connections.

The new Centro RotrLink twist and lock technology maintains the strength of the product whilst dramatically reducing assembly time by simply twisting and locking certain components together. The quality of the materials used to manufacture the locks means any Centro modular system can be assembled and dismantled over and over again whilst maintaining its strength.

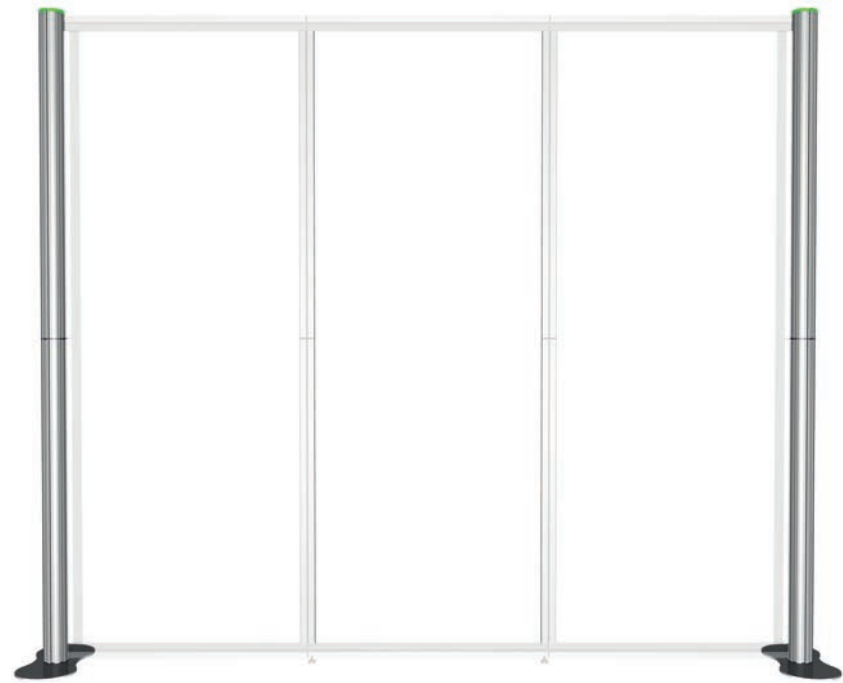

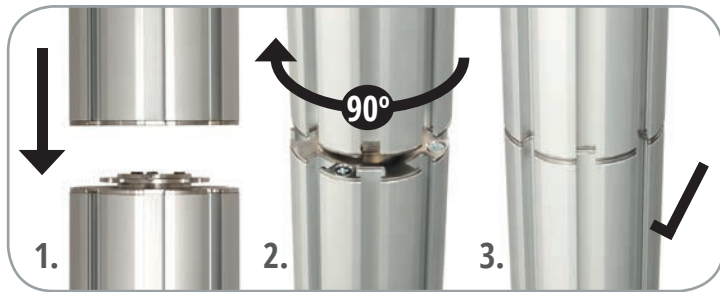

Our continued confidence in the build quality and long term reliability of these display systems is reflected in the 5 year guarantee we offer across the entire range.
